FAST - Asia Fund

Dear Customers,

As you may be aware, we have experienced strong interest in our FAST - Asia Fund (the “fund”) in recent years from a broad range of investors. We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your trust.

Our objective is to ensure that the fund’s capacity is maintained at a level that supports our aims of continuing to compound client money at our desired rate of return and to preserve the strong performance track record that it has achieved.

Because the fund is now near the level of assets that we are comfortable with, we want to cease marketing the fund to new investors, and begin to work with existing investors to control further inflows, while at the same time maintaining flexibility in terms of their rebalancing.

As an existing investor, we would ask for your cooperation in managing inflows from 12 February 2018. By working with you to control fund flows, we aim to protect the interest of all existing investors to ensure the fund can remain open for them as long as possible:

- In order to allow you the flexibility to rebalance your portfolios, we will accept cumulative subscriptions / switches at the greater amount of the following two scenarios: (i) up to 20% of the value of shares in the fund linked to each Fidelity Unique Agent Number (“UAN”) as at 9 February 2018, or (ii) USD 1m (please see examples over the page).
- Please note that if you share your Fidelity UAN with other users in your firm, its capacity will be available to all users on a first come, first served basis. We are unable to apply any limits to users individually as we have no visibility of the underlying user at your UAN’s point of trade. Any trade that exceeds the cumulative quota may be rejected in full.

- We will also be maintaining a pipeline queue for existing investors wishing to make a material additional investment over their cumulative limit. While we have ceased marketing the fund to new investors, where we are approached by any new investors, we may equally add them to the queue. We will be monitoring cumulative net sales from 12 February 2018 to identify flow levels relative to this cut off with a view to servicing the queue. If ever you wish to be added to the queue, please contact your usual Fidelity relationship manager with your estimated value of interest.

We will continue to monitor the fund's asset levels closely and will communicate any further changes.

We thank you for your cooperation in this regard and look forward to being able to continue to protect the longer-term interests of your investment in this fund.

Yours faithfully

FIL (Luxembourg) S.A.

Important Information

This document is for professional investors only and may not be reproduced or circulated without prior permission and must not be passed to the general public. Unless otherwise stated, all views expressed are those of the Fidelity organisation. This communication is not directed at, and must not be acted upon by persons inside [the United Kingdom or] the United States and is otherwise only directed at persons residing in jurisdictions where the relevant funds are authorised for distribution or where no such authorisation is required. FIL Limited and its respective subsidiaries form the global investment management organisation that is commonly referred to as Fidelity International. Assets and resources as at (date). Data is unaudited. Fidelity Active SStrategy ('FAST' or the 'Fund') is an open-ended investment company (SICAV) established in Luxembourg with different classes of shares. The Fund is registered under Part I of the Luxembourg Law of 17 December 2010 relating to undertakings for collective investment, as amended (the "Law of 2010"). The Fund therefore qualifies as an undertaking for collective investment in transferable securities ('UCITS') and has obtained recognition under the amended EC Council Directive 2009/65/EC. Investment in the Fund may involve greater risk as a result of the Fund's use of derivatives, such as futures, forwards, swaps and options. Examples of the investment techniques for which the Fund may use derivatives (though not exhaustive) include establishment of synthetic long and short positions, the creation of leverage that increases the Fund's economic exposure beyond the value of its net assets, or for hedging purposes. Leverage can increase the volatility of returns. Whilst Fidelity International employs a sophisticated risk management process to oversee and manage derivative exposures within the Fund, investors should be aware that the use of derivative instruments may involve risks different from, and, in certain cases, greater than, the risks presented by the securities from which they are derived. Further details of the risks involved in investing in the Fund are given in the prospectus, which all investors should read before investing. In the event of systemic shocks to financial markets, liquidity can become severely restricted causing some firms to withdraw from the market or, in extreme cases, become insolvent. Such events may have an adverse impact on the Fund, particularly where the Fund has counterparty exposure to the companies involved. Equally, the Fund's ability to utilise synthetic short exposures might from time to time be restricted in certain sectors, securities and/or certain jurisdictions due to local regulations. Due to the lack of liquidity in many smaller stock markets, certain Country Select Funds may be volatile and redemption rights may be restricted in extreme circumstances. In certain countries, and for certain types of investments, transaction costs are higher and liquidity is lower than elsewhere. There may also be limited opportunities to find alternative ways of managing cash flows especially where the focus of investment is on small and medium sized firms. For funds specializing in such countries and investment types, transactions, particularly those large in size, are likely to have a greater impact on the costs of running a fund than similar transactions in larger funds. Prospective investors should bear this in mind in selecting funds. We recommend that you obtain detailed information before taking any investment decision. Investments should be made on the basis of the current prospectus and KIID (key investor information document), which is available along with the current annual and semi-annual reports free of charge from our distributors, from our European Service Centre in Luxembourg, FIL (Luxembourg) S.A. 2a, rue Albert Borschette BP 2174 L-1021 Luxembourg.
