Stricter sustainability policy, new names for SEB Fund 3 sub funds and SEB Sustainability Fund Global

All our funds now follow our new, stricter sustainability policy. Read more about changes, including new names, for SEB Fund 3's sub funds and SEB Sustainability Fund Global.

SEB Investment Management AB adopted a new sustainability policy in December 2020 and clarified our position on climate change, including our goal for a carbon-neutral investment portfolio by 2040. This applies to all our funds, not solely our sustainable funds. We started implementing our new sustainability policy in March 2021.

Now that all our funds have the same ambition, we are removing the word "sustainable" from the fund names. Consequently, the sub funds in SEB Fund 3 and SEB Sustainability Fund Global will be renamed as of 4 June 2021. See the table, below, describing the new names for SEB Fund 3 and SEB Sustainability Fund Global. You are not required to act due to these changes, but you should be familiar with them.

All our funds have the same high level of ambition regarding:

Integrated sustainability analysis: sustainability is an important part of all our investment decisions and investment processes. An important task is to identify companies that have started or are facing change and that are taking strategic and financial measures to be able to remain competitive in the transition to a more sustainable economy.

Exclusion: we exclude companies that violate human rights, contribute to serious environmental damage or are active in industries or in areas of activity that have major challenges regarding sustainability, such as fossil fuels, tobacco and commercial gaming.

Active ownership: as owners and investors, we have a responsibility and an opportunity to drive development and influence companies in their sustainability work.

Updated product documentation for the sub funds will be available on www.sebgroup.lu and from our registered office as of implementation of the changes.
